

This service - broadband over normal power lines- will end high frequency operation as we know it now. Most homes are served by the lines. When the digital signal is sent over these lines, normal HF reception will be ruined to the degree that radio operation as we now know it will be impossible.